

An important message to our stakeholders in relation to the COVID-19 pandemic

Wind Prospect has been closely monitoring the situation pertaining to the COVID-19 pandemic. Wind Prospect continues to work on all our projects under altered operating conditions that adhere to COVID-19 government policy and guidelines. These operating conditions have been implemented to protect our staff, their families and everybody we work with including project landowners and communities, clients, consultants and other stakeholders as well as the general community.

Travel

All business-related travels for Wind Prospect staff both domestic and international has been cancelled or postponed. Any travel considered critical for operations will be considered on a case by case basis in the context of government policy and guidelines.

Attendance at any work related intrastate, interstate or international meetings, conferences or events in person has been cancelled. Where possible, attendance will occur via phone or video. Physical attendance to any critical meetings that are unable to be conducted via phone or video will be considered on a case by case basis in the context of government policy and guidelines.

Work from home

Work continues on all of Wind Prospect's projects with staff working remote from the office. All staff are contactable via email and phone.

The situation regarding the COVID-19 pandemic has and continues to evolve rapidly. Wind Prospect continues to monitor these changes and will provide further updates regarding our operations if circumstances change.

To all our project stakeholders, stay safe and well during this trying time.

Wishing you all the best,

The team at Wind Prospect.
